fairyhill

Fairyhill – a magical name for a magical place: a charming 18th century house set in twenty-four acres of parkland, tucked away secretly at the heart of the glorious Gower peninsula.

Fairyhill – serious and stylish luxury without pretension: a relaxed award-winning restaurant where you can savour all that's best in seasonal and local produce and taste the finest of wines from celebrated cellars; a sumptuously furnished sitting room where you can relax in comfort in front of the glow of an open fire and gaze out at the wonderful views beyond; a warm and welcoming well-stocked bar where you can chat through the day's events; and eight intimate, individually-designed bedrooms that guarantee a blissful night's sleep.

If you do have to work however, why not do it in style and make use of the multi-purpose meeting room.

Fairyhill – quite simply fantastic food, great atmosphere, peaceful surroundings and a fabulous welcome. Altogether, an unforgettable ambience that is The Fairyhill experience. Pure magic.

restaurant

The award-winning restaurant at Fairyhill has a reputation for excellence with food-lovers far and wide who keep returning to savour the inspiring menus and imaginative use of local produce.

Low food miles have always been on the menu at Fairyhill and no journey could be shorter than that bringing seasonal vegetables from our very own walled garden or fresh eggs courtesy of our own much-loved ducks. The nearby Gower coast is a rich larder, providing sea bass, seawin, laverbread, samphire and world-famous cockles. Rich and diverse agricultural land provides the distinctive flavours of salt marsh lamb and Welsh Black beef and from our neighbouring county, Carmarthenshire, the garden of Wales, comes wonderful ham and speciality cheeses.

Accompany all this with a fantastically wide choice of wine from our celebrated cellars and you'll realise what good food and relaxed dining is really all about.

Fairyhill – a fine house that oozes a distinctive sense of style throughout. Make it your home for as long as you stay, either with other guests or perhaps enjoy exclusive use, and have the Fairyhill experience all to yourself.

Whatever you decide, you'll love the attention to detail found in all the living spaces at Fairyhill: the comfortable elegance of the large sitting room with its squashy sofas, marble fire place, grand piano and local art which graces the walls, creating a real sense of place; the beautifully furnished terrace with views of the fabulous parkland; and the décor and cosiness of the well-stocked bar.

And at the end of the day, choose from eight intimate and individually-designed bedrooms each of which, though unique in character and style, is consistent in the highest standards of luxury you demand. Each bedroom with its distinctive mood and ambient lighting has ensuite facilities, quality furnishings and Egyptian cotton bedding, ensuring you a blissful night's sleep. As you'd expect, you'll get the latest technologies – including an iPod connector and free Wi-Fi (and of course TV, DVD, CDs and even a phone!)

Fairyhill – a space to call your own.

Enchanting. That's how the twenty-four acres of parkland that surrounds the house is usually referred to. A secret hideaway within which there is so much to see and do, or nothing at all to do.

Perhaps take a gentle stroll along the paths that meander through the flowering gardens and mature woodland to the secluded lake and bubbling trout stream. (Watch out for feathered friends as you go!) Along the way, contemplate the art in the park – sculptures from Welsh artists, adding that extra touch of magic to the grounds. For something a little more energetic, perhaps a game of croquet on the lawn.

If all this seems a bit just too much like hard work, why not just take in the changing vistas the seasons bring from the comfort of the house.

And as the sun goes down, nothing could be better than drinking in the views from the terrace (along with a glass of champagne).

Fairyhill grounds – an enchanted space for you to just be.

GOWER

The great outdoors is on Fairyhill's doorstep – the Gower Peninsula, Britain's first ever area of outstanding natural beauty. And no wonder, it is simply a landscape of superlatives.

The best sunset in the UK is said to be at Rhossili Bay, a vast expanse of sandy shore bordered by dramatic cliffs and roaring Atlantic waves. One of the world's top ten beaches is said to be the safe and sandy bay of Oxwich and nearby Three Cliffs found itself high in the UK's list of top ten views.

But there's much more. If it's action-packed adventure you're after, surfing, abseiling, horse-riding and mountain biking are all here. Or, if it's a life more leisurely you're seeking then cliff-top walks or bird-watching on estuary shores will fit the bill. Keen golfers will be inspired by the variety of courses just a short drive away.

Meanwhile, back at Fairyhill, a warm welcome awaits your return after the day's activity, whatever you decide to do!

Directions to Fairyhill

Leave the M4 at junction 47 and off the roundabout take the A483 dual carriageway signposted to Swansea. At the next roundabout turn right onto the A484 signed to Llanelli, Gower and Gowerton. From there follow the signs to Gower and Gowerton.

At Gowerton take the B4295 North Gower coastal road, through Penclawdd, Crofty and Llanrhidian, for approximately 10 miles. After Oldwalls and the Greyhound Inn continue for a mile or so before turning left to Fairyhill Hotel.

Fairyhill – the ultimate sanctuary for a little rest and relaxation. And what could be more life-giving than some extra pampering with some of our holistic therapy treatments during your stay with us?

De-stress with an aromatherapy massage or let your mind, body and spirit be uplifted with a stimulating reflexology treatment. Be invigorated or relaxed – the choice is yours – when you opt for your favoured Swedish massage technique which is known to increase blood and lymphatic flow and improve muscle tone and skin texture.

You might like to opt for the ancient technique of Indian Head massage inducing a state of calm and relaxation through massage of the arms, shoulders, neck, scalp and face or the hands-on treatment of Reiki that treats the whole body and is a powerful form of healing.

Whatever you choose, you will be guaranteed the most professional and courteous service in the best of surroundings.

Fairyhill – be pampered in style.

Some things in life demand something that extra bit special. A significant family occasion for example, a wedding or perhaps a birthday. Or it could be that your business demands some time away for a conference, series of meetings or other corporate event. These are special times.

Fairyhill is well aware of this. These are the occasions when you want to spend your time with the selected few. So with its fine house and wonderful grounds, where better than Fairyhill? And it can be all yours – available to you and your guests exclusively. We can offer a variety of solutions to accommodate your particular needs – all you have to do is ask and we will be happy to discuss the options.

We have eight bedrooms for you and your guests to choose from, and can seat up to thirty-two for lunch/dinner in the restaurant. If your needs are corporate, we can offer you 'The Space' as well – a multi-purpose meeting room which can accommodate up to sixteen delegates and is equipped with a range of up-to-date equipment including a 42 inch plasma screen. Or it can be used for intimate drinks parties.

Sometimes life's events are so important that it's OK to be selfish. Fairyhill – especially for you.
